WHAT IS T-COIL?

Our Sanctuary and Chapel are now equipped with t-coil hearing loop. Most behind-the-ear hearing aids come with t-coils and one must visit their audiologist to have it turned-on. We also offer headsets for those who don't have hearing aids or whose aids don't have t-coil. Please ask an usher for help. There are more detailed pamphlets on the information kiosk located in the church office and on the Plaza.

Welcome . . . to the Red Brick Church

Have you ever felt completely in sync with someone else? Or a group of people? Like a sports team or your co-workers all working toward the same thing? Like you were of one purpose with others? It takes a lot of time and trust to build a relationship like that and that makes it really valuable and kind of rare. Our God calls us to a relationship like that with each other and with God. But think about it, our God—who created the universe, took the time to develop a trusting relationship with us. God could have stayed elsewhere and ruled our lives from a distance, but that is not our God. Jesus came to us to put that time in so we might trust His voice when the time came to hear it.

That is what we are about here at Point Loma Community Presbyterian Church: putting in the time and building the trust and relationships necessary to work toward our vision of loving everyone to life with everything we have. So remember what it felt like to be of one purpose with something outside yourself and come experience God that way, alive in this community.

Associate Pastor for Congregational Care
